Welcome to the 17th Uptown Arts Stroll in Washington Heights - Inwood and West Harlem

We are very excited to honor five outstanding champions and important contributors to the arts community in northern Manhattan and beyond at the landmark United Palace during the opening reception on May 28th.

The Uptown Arts Stroll celebrates the dynamic and diverse cultural arts scene from West 135th to West 220th St with over 300 exhibits and events through June 30th. We thank all of the artists & participating venues for enriching our community during this month-long celebration, which NoMAA has been producing since 2008.

We congratulate Liz Roberts, the 2019 Uptown Arts Stroll poster contest winner, and acknowledge Alexis Agliano Sanborn and Ashanti N. Muñiz, the second and third prize winners respectively.

This Stroll will showcase films, dance, theater, music and spoken word over the next four weeks including, The Hop on June 6th, ArtStrollstice on June 21st, Upper Manhattan LGBTQ History: Arts & Community on June 24th, and the closing reception at Harlem School of the Arts on June 27th. Pick-up your copy of the Stroll guide or view it online at www.artstroll.com, both with user-friendly search options.

Finally, we thank all our sponsors and donors whose generosity and support of the NoMAA helped us produce this year’s Uptown Arts Stroll.

Estamos muy emocionados de homenajear a cinco destacados aliados e importantes colaboradores de la comunidad de artes en el alto Manhattan y más allá, en el histórico teatro del United Palace durante la recepción de Apertura el 28 de mayo.

El Paseo de las Artes celebra la dinámica y diversa escena cultural desde la calle 135 hasta la calle 220 con más de 300 exhibiciones y eventos que tendrán lugar hasta el 30 de junio. Agradecemos a todos los artistas y sedes que participan y enriquecen nuestra comunidad durante el festival, el cual NoMAA lleva produciendo desde 2008.

Felicítamos a Liz Roberts, ganadora este año del concurso de afiches así como aprovechamos para reconocer a Alexis Agliano Sanborn y Ashanti N. Muñiz, ganadoras el segundo y tercer premio respectivamente.

El Paseo presentará películas, danza, teatro, música y palabra hablada en los próximos cuatro semanas incluyendo, “The Hop” el 6 de junio, “ArtStrollstice” el 21 de junio, “LGBTQ en el alto Manhattan: Artes y comunidad” el 24 de junio y la recepción de Clausura en el Harlem School of the Arts el 27 de junio. Recójas tu copia de la guía o visita www.artstroll.com, con pestañas de fácil búsqueda.

Finalmente, agradecemos a todos nuestros patrocinadores y donantes cuya generosidad y apoyo nos ayudaron a producir el 17º anual Paseo de las Artes 2019.
Born and raised in the Dominican Republic, Mino Lora has been living and working as a theatre artist, activist, educator and arts administrator in NYC since 2000. As a theatre director, Mino has directed over 40 plays and staged readings with children, youth and adults. She is passionate about the creative process and working together with Latinx and playwrights of color on plays that address issues of identity and race. Over the course of her time as a theatre director, she has collaborated with dozens of playwrights and supported them in the creation of new plays. In 2009 Mino co-founded People’s Theatre Project (PTP), and currently serves as its Founding Executive Director. As Executive Director for PTP, Mino launched and oversees the three branches of the organization: PTP Partnerships, leading programs in collaboration with 18 schools in Upper Manhattan; the PTP Academy, a rigorous arts and leadership program in Inwood for immigrant youth and, finally, the PTP Company, the professional devised theatre touring company of the organization. During her tenure with PTP, the organization has grown to serve thousands of young people and employ dozens of Latinx and immigrant artists. PTP won the prestigious Union Square Arts Award in 2010 and the Mayor’s Cultural Impact Grant in 2018 and 2019.

Obrien Luna was born in the Dominican Republic and at age 16 he played drums for his local church, which years later brought him into the realization that his true passion for music laid in singing and playing guitar. He moved to New York where he has become one of the most successful representatives of bohemian music within the city’s Hispanic community. Obrien has been performing five to six nights per week for years at all the best venues in NYC and has shared the stage with many well-known artists including, Francisco Cespedes, Sergio Vargas, Pavel Nuñez, Rafa Rosario, Felix D'Oleo, Ruby Perez, Ramon Orlando, and Victor Victor, among others. Obrien's musical influences come from artists such as Juan Luis Guerra, Pavel Nuñez, Joaquin Sabina, and others. His first EP from his own composition called “Un cuarto para La Seis,” was released on December 11, 2015 at Subrosa NYC and is available on most of the online music platforms including, iTunes, Spotify, and Rhapsody. Obrien plays at Manolo Tapas on Saturday nights and at Guadalupe on Tuesday, Friday and Sunday evenings.

Hike the Heights is an annual community hike and celebration in northern Manhattan that promotes the use of the Giraffe Path, an urban trail that connects the Cloisters to Central Park. This family-friendly event began as part of a project of the Community Research Group (CRG) at the Columbia University Mailman School of Public Health in January 2004. Led by Mindy Fullilove and Lourdes Rodriguez, CRG established City Life Is Moving Bodies (CLIMB), a northern Manhattan community-based initiative founded on the belief that safe parks and neighborhoods are essential to community health, and that all communities, regardless of socioeconomic background, are entitled to access to safe parks and neighborhoods. Composed of a diverse group of individuals and organizations working together as the a consensus group, CLIMB has organized Hike the Heights on the first Saturday of June for 15 years, bringing community members and organizations together to celebrate and encourage community ownership over and activity in the parks in northern Manhattan.

For 50 years, Dance Theatre of Harlem has provided access to ballet for all. Comprised of an international touring company, a training school and a celebrated arts education and community engagement program, Dancing Through Barriers, DTH demonstrates the power of art to transform lives. Compelled to make a positive impact following the assassination of the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., the legendary Arthur Mitchell started a school with his teacher, Karel Shook. Mitchell’s idea was to offer children in the Harlem neighborhood where he grew up the opportunity to change their futures by challenging themselves against the rigors of a classical art form. In 1971, only two years after its founding, The New York Times called Dance Theatre of Harlem “one of ballet’s most exciting undertakings.” Now in its fifth decade, DTH has an extraordinary legacy based on thrilling performances and artistic excellence predicated on providing opportunity where none had existed before. Through performance, training and education, the impact of Dance Theatre of Harlem continues to be felt across the globe.

Warner Bros. Pictures is bringing a film adaptation of Lin-Manuel Miranda’s Broadway musical In the Heights to film in the Washington Heights and Inwood communities. The film will highlight the streets and businesses that bring the authentic character of the neighborhood to life on screen. The screenplay for In the Heights is by Quiara Alegría Hudes based on the musical with lyrics by Lin-Manuel Miranda and the book by Hudes. Both Miranda and Hudes are producing alongside Scott Sanders, Anthony Bregman, and Mara Jacobs. In the Heights follows a vibrant cast of characters — including an upbeat bodega owner, a struggling Stanford undergrad, an ambitious taxi driver, a hardworking hairstylist, and the beloved neighborhood matriarch — striving, dreaming, and falling in love in Washington Heights.
